STRAWBERRIES

DIXIELAND. Early, disease resistant, firm and red all the way through. Excellent flavor and makes very prolific beds.

BLAKEMORE. Just about the earliest berry grown, very prolific grower making good beds, medium in size. A little sharp in taste but it picks first.

TEMPLE. This will pick next, does not bed so freely as Blakemore, the berries are a little larger, bright red with green calix, medium to large in size.

STELMASTER. Very resistant to disease. Makes a good fruiting bed, berries are firm, good color and large for this early in the season.

PREMIER. This berry is next in line. Bright red in color with green calix, medium to large in size, making a good bed of plants.

DORSETT. This berry ripens with Premier, makes a good bed. Fruit bright glossy red in color. Good flavor and firm texture making a good market berry.

FAIRFAX. The fruit is large, rich red in color, the best of flavor. It is exceptionally firm and stands distant shipping well, also desirable for the home garden.

SPARKLE. It makes a good plant bed with dark green foliage, disease resistant and has a long picking season. Berries are medium to large and a glossy bright red.

EMPIRE. Introduced by the New York Experiment Station. Berries average large in size. Fruit firm of excellent quality and it is a vigorous grower.

CATSKILL. A midseason variety. It makes plenty of good strong plants. a heavy producer of large berries of good quality, light red in color making it very attractive.

ROBINSON. A midseason variety, berries are medium to large, firm and a bright red in color with green calix. It makes a good fruiting bed.

FAIRLAND. Midseason. It is highly productive. The berry is firm, bright red and the plants are vigorous, makes a good fruiting bed.

ABERDEEN. This variety will outyield all others under favorable conditions. The fruit average large, a bright red in color and uniform in size.

BIG JOE. A large midseason berry, coloring all over alike. Excellent shipper making it a favorite with many growers.

VERMILLION. This late variety is very prolific, fruit medium to large, best of flavor and a brilliant glossy red in color. Disease resistant.

JERSEY BELL. A late variety by the New Jersey Experiment Station. Makes a moderate number of plants, berries large, excellent flavor and bright red.
